Welcoming New Students to an Exciting University Life

As I embarked on my journey to Dubai for meetings today, I took a moment to visit the University. It was heartening to see Mr. Bassam Mura, MBA and his dedicated team, along with fellow colleagues and enthusiastic student volunteers, all working together to create a supportive atmosphere.

The campus was alive with energy, filled with students and their parents eager to embrace this new chapter in their lives.

New students are not just entering an academic environment; they're joining a community. University life offers a unique blend of learning, personal growth, and social experiences. It's a time to explore passions, forge lifelong friendships, and develop skills that will shape their futures.

This is their time to shine, and I can't wait to see all the incredible things they will achieve in the coming academic year!

The University is open today and tomorrow in all our three campuses, Abu Dhabi, Al Ain, and Dubai.
