New Academic Programs Starting This Spring

Today, when I arrived at my office, I noticed that our 8 new academic programs are being advertised on the big screen. These programs will begin in the Spring Semester and focus on important and relevant topics.

The 8 new academic programs launching this Spring Semester are designed to meet specific market needs. These programs focus on relevant and topical subjects that reflect current trends and challenges in various fields. By aligning the curriculum with the demands of employers and society, these programs aim to equip students with the skills and knowledge needed to succeed in today's job market. This responsiveness to market needs ensures that graduates are well-prepared to tackle real-world issues and contribute effectively to their industries.

The new academic programs are:

1. BA in International Relations
2. BSc in Artificial Intelligence
3. MSc in Cybersecurity
4. MSc in Artificial Intelligence
5. MSc in Fintech
6. Master of Law in Cyberlaw and Artificial Intelligence
7. MSc in Strategic Digital Transformation
8. PhD in Law
