Visiting Faculty and Staff in Their Offices

Today, I had the pleasure of visiting faculty and staff members in their offices alongside Ms. Khulud Abdallah, the Executive Office Operations Manager, Noor Al Masri, Associate Director for Marketing and Communication, and our talented photographer Huthaifah Al Haddad. Our primary purpose was to say "thank you" for their hard work during a year of exceptional achievements for ADU.

These visits are significant for several reasons. First and foremost, they foster a sense of community within the institution. Engaging with colleagues in a personal setting strengthens relationships and promotes collaboration. Furthermore, these interactions demonstrate our commitment to supporting each other. By making these visits, we not only express our appreciation for their hard work and dedication but also encourage a culture of openness and inclusivity.

Visiting our faculty and staff in their offices is more than just a formality; it is an integral part of building a supportive and collaborative workplace at ADU. We truly walk the talk at ADU.

Tomorrow, I visit our Al Ain Campus to host a town hall meeting with faculty and staff and show my appreciation for their hard work and commitment.
